COURSE & CERTIFICATES

JavaScript Algorithms and Data Structures Masterclass

This course crams months of computer science and interviews prep material. The content is based directly on coding boot camps. I cover the computer science content that has helped me to understand programming and to solve complex problems and optimize the code. From this course I got a better understanding of code flow and the architecture of the programming language.

React and Redux

The course material was based on understanding and flow of state management to share the data to the components and manage the data with good architecture using redux. I learned the modern technology to build the web application developer using ReactJS and Redux. This course gave me an understanding of the DOM, manipulate and how to handle the data and state management between components and how to code the redux store, reducer, and dispatching actions better pattern for building a scalable web application.

Understanding Javascript from Very Basics to Core

This course is based on the core concept of javascript programming. It helped me to understand the actual working partition of JS: the compilation, closure, event loop, hosting, scope, debugging from beginner to advanced. Truly understanding the JavaScript language, and it really helped me to understand the modern frameworks.
